

PRIVACY POLICY – Jolted News

At Jolted Pixel Media and Marketing we believe in protecting our client's privacy to the best of our ability. This Policy demonstrates our commitment to your privacy and the protection of your information.

Data Definitions

We hold two types of data. These are a) your personal account information and b) information regarding your subscribers, emails sent and other statistics.

How we protect your privacy

We use security measures such as encryption to protect against the loss, misuse and alteration of data used by our system. Although we cannot guarantee that your information will never be exposed, we take the best action to protect your information.

Sharing and Usage of Account Information

We will never share, sell, or rent your personal account information or subscriber data with anyone without your advance permission or unless ordered by a court of law. Information submitted to us is only available to employees managing this information for purposes of contacting you or sending you emails based on your request for information and to contracted service providers for purposes of providing services relating to our communications with you.

Account Termination

If for any reason your account is terminated, your account data and your subscriber data will be deleted.

Liability Limitation

In no situations whatsoever will liability of the Company exceed the amount paid for services nor will the Company be liable for indirect, special, or consequential damages of any kind to any party.

Cookies

Jolted Pixel (including Jolted News) uses cookies to record session information, such as past activity at a site in order to provide better service when visitors return to our site, customize Web page content based on visitors' browser type or other information that the visitor sends, and to enable access to specific areas on the web site. This information will not be shared.
